

Anticipatory Care Planning

Allie Jardin is a New York State Licensed Social Worker at SUNY Upstate Medical University's Center of Excellence for Alzheimer's Disease. After earning her bachelor's degree in sociology from Le Moyne College and Masters in social work from Syracuse University, she became a trained dementia care expert in 2015. Allie has extensive experience working with individuals and families dealing with neurocognitive disorders and the psychosocial concerns that often arise. She has 10 years of experience working with the geriatric population in long-term care, outpatient, and community-based settings. Allie is currently a community educator volunteer for the Alzheimer's Association, Central New York Chapter. She remains committed to educating the community and supporting patients in the fight against Alzheimer's.
